SEE YOU AT ROARING BROOK RANCH & TENNIS RESORT

This September 17th to the 19th, will be the Annual Northeast Region Conference to be held at a Dude Ranch called, "Roaring Brook Ranch and Tennis Resort and Conference Center," Route 9N, Exit 5 (Saratoga Springs Exit) off Route 87, the New York Thruway, passed Albany just two miles from Lake George, New York. The American Automobile Association rates the Roaring Brook Ranch, in the Adirondacks, with three diamonds.

At the last Region Conference, there was a survey taken and by far, the participants in the poll indicated that they would prefer a change from a hotel atmosphere to something new like a dude ranch. The idea is to bring the family along with you so, that while you have a conference to attend, the members of your family can enjoy themselves with five tennis courts, saunas, fitness rooms, indoor and outdoor pools and 30 horses to ride on wilderness trails.

COMMANDER'S: NATIONAL STAFF COLLEGE DATES 16-23 OCTOBER

How many members of your wing are in need of this outstanding program conducted down at the NCO Academy at Maxwell-Gunter Annex, Montgomery, AL? All it costs is $15/day for meals and $25/day for lodging, plus a registration fee of $125 for a week's worth of leadership and management training that will help your members serve better in their professional or CAP.

To attend, members must hold the grade of Major or above, and have completed a Region Staff College or its equivalent.

Besides its emphasis on leadership and management training, NSC also helps attendees focus on strategic planning in the context of the many issues facing CAP on National, Regional, Wing and community levels. Instructors include faculty from the Air University at Maxwell, the center of professional military education for the Air Force. Representatives from private industry, and other branches of the Air Force and CAP will also lead classes.
